Blackboard jungle? Not at Canton Senior High School! With a superior faculty, a vibrant student body, and an architectural masterpiece, ours is an educational paradise!

Here we learn how to enjoy life, to organize work, and to love fun. Both sides of our educational coin — social playground and busy workshop — fuse into a single promise: a great future of "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Come with us on our 1957 - 1958 trip through paradise as we have a look at our school year . . .

ADMINISTRATION

Gary -

To the most wonderful guy it has been my pleasure to know. We have had loads of fun. Thank you so much for taking me to all the different dances, picnics, and so on. Be real good at college next year, and watch those girls. You are the greatest and I certainly hate to see you leave. I wish you the best of luck in everything you may do in the future.

Assignment

1. Study carefully Pp. 10-21 "58"
2. Be able to identify important people
3. Be prepared to discuss contributions of faculty to student life

The Robert Welches get a chance now and then to baby sit with their grandson. Mr. Welch operates the C & W Supermarket and is Secretary of the Board of Education.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fink and sons look over an edition of the Canton Daily Ledger. Mr. Fink is manager of Knepp's Women's Apparel. Eldest son Alan is a Sophomore.

Mr. and Mrs. Gale Stevens and Sophomore daughter Jane listen as Bill attempts to contact someone on his ham radio set. Mr. Stevens is a farmer.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Representing varied points of view, members of our Board of Education include two businessmen, a professional man, and two farmers. With such a cross-section of public thought it is to be expected that their influence at the helm of our school system would truly reflect the thinking of the community as a whole.

Their interest in our schools stems primarily from a desire for a solid educational foundation for their own, and consequently for the other children of the district.

Mrs. Taylor and Danny wait expectantly as Dr. W. I. Taylor and Gary complete an urgent telephone call to the toy shop. Dr. Taylor is President of the Board.

Cross Section of Public Thought Reflected by Board

The youngest members of the L. D. Barnard family get THE WORD from Mamma on playing with the football in the house. Mr. Barnard is a farmer.

Administrators Keep Our School System on Even Keel

Grandson Tod Alvin perches cheerily on Principal Alvin Felts' knee and carries the burden of the conversation in the family circle. Mr. Felts taught a math class this year.

"Many aims or objectives of education have been set forth, but all can be encompassed by these two broad aims: learning how to make a living, and learning how to live.

"The experiences you have had in high school have, no doubt, yielded some knowledge and skills that will materially aid in acquiring vocational competence. But it is equally important that you carry away with you the attitudes, appreciations, and understandings that are basic to those moral and spiritual values that will enable you to live a richer and nobler life founded on a code of ethics that will contribute to the improvement of society."

Thus Principal Alvin Felts sums up, in a statement to the Seniors, the educational philosophy that has guided his efforts throughout thirty-one years in the Canton school system.

"Our job as educators is to feed those who hunger and thirst for knowledge."

The Harold Swartzbaughs are a happy crew. Superintendent Swartzbaugh has always stressed the point that teaching is a pleasant occupation. Joan is a ninth grader.

SUPERINTENDENT

Up through the ranks! Our new Superintendent is well acquainted with the Canton schools. After graduating from Canton High in 1928, he attended Illinois State Normal University, then returned to Canton to teach. He was principal of Canton Junior High for more than twenty-two years.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Moneta Morgan has long wanted to concentrate more on homemaking. After more than twenty-four years riding herd on the records in the Superintendent's office, she has informed us that this year will close her public career . . . she will henceforth specialize in ham and eggs, dusting the what-not, and making beds. We regretfully acknowledge her right to do this.

Mrs. Elizabeth Funderburk searches for the flag of Peru, where she will be teaching next year. She has taught Spanish here for many years. We shall miss her.

Mr. and Mrs. William Metzger are proud of their castle! Mr. Metzger, who teaches drafting, designed and built their home himself. He also directs intramural sports.

Rented Apartment, or a Build-It-Yourself Mansion!

Miss Dorothy Hoadley hands the evening paper and mail to Miss Ruth Cagley. Miss Hoadley teaches P. E. and advises the G. A. A. Miss Cagley is our librarian and advises the Senior Class and the Librarians Club.

Avid interest is shown in the camera by the John Ronkettos because, you see, Mr. Ronketto directs the photography department! He teaches Biology and advises the Biology Club.

Mastery of Our Native Tongue Great Accomplishment

ENGLISH

Before an individual can take his proper place in the adult world, he must develop a working knowledge of English.

By long, tedious written assignments, grammar students are taught the importance of clear, correct, concise, and complete oral and written English.

After an intense study of the immortal and contemporary works of the great bards and authors, literature classes are given an opportunity to create original compositions.

Having completed these rigorous English courses, graduates feel better prepared to join today's society.

By listening to a tape recording of his speech, Garren Milhone learns to correct his technique in Public Speaking class.

Adequate word power is an essential in higher learning. Here Larry Gist and Janet Warrington use an important tool of an English student—an unabridged dictionary.

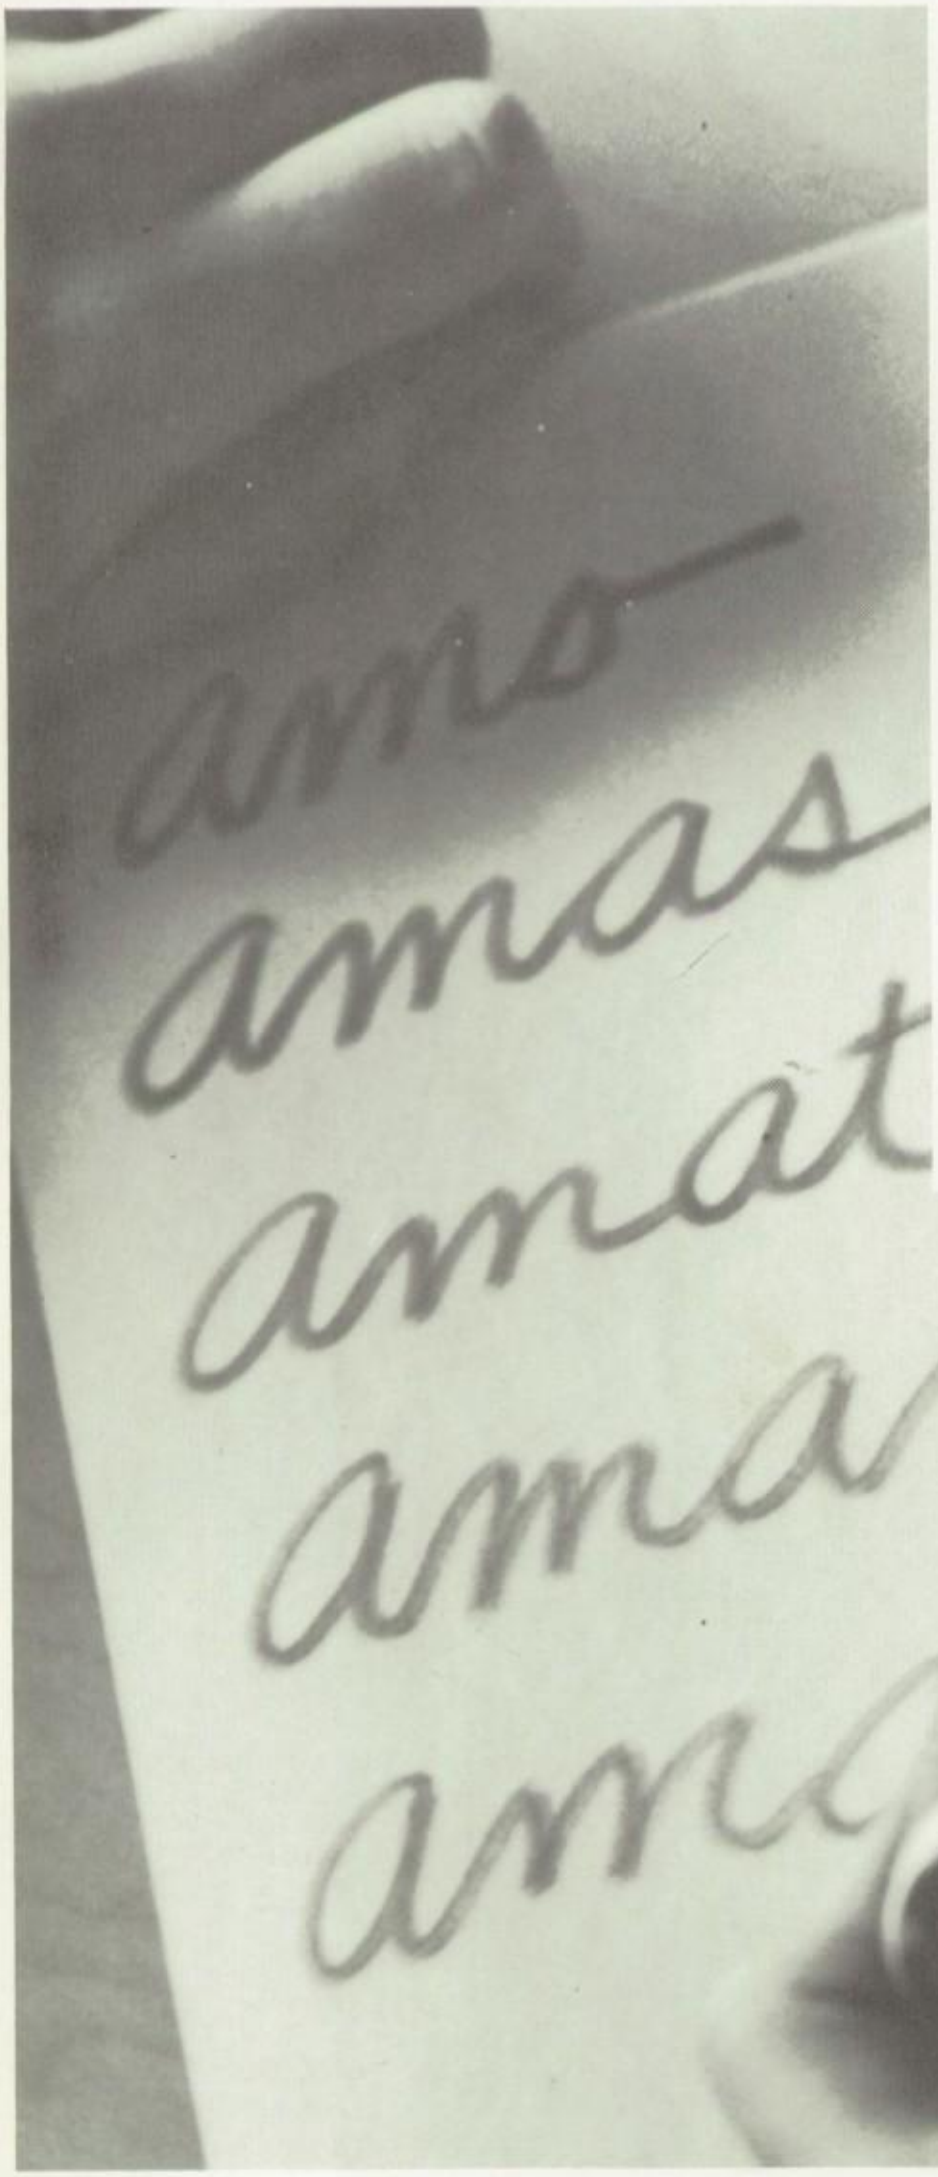
Gaining a practical vocabulary is one of the primary aims of a foreign language class. Many common English words are derived from other languages.



LANGUAGES

Our school life is enriched by delving into the linquistic side of our curriculum.

Through the study of dissimilar histories, arts, sciences, customs, and home lives we gain appreciation for the ways of others in our world. The effective use of a second language enables us to grasp ideas written or spoken without translation. We learn to read with ease literature, magazines, and newspapers written in other languages for pleasure and intellectual background.

Essential to world relations, an understanding of the cultural and thinking processes of foreign nations prepares us for a well-adjusted life and intelligent leadership in our society.

Interests Sharpened by Study of World and Its People

SOCIAL STUDIES

With the world concentrating on science, we sometimes forget that relations between people are of primary importance. For years the world has been shrinking; people have been brought closer and closer together. Our attempt at a global government proves that the leaders of important nations feel the need for world co-operation.

Before we have solved the problem of international relations, we are faced with the problem of interplanetary relations. Understanding people by studying their country, chronologically and geographically, as well as their government and customs, leads to a tolerance of their "foreign" practices, which develops into world peace and unity.

To help her in her studies, World History student Barbara Smith uses the globe, which plays an important part in finding precise location.

A Future Homemaker of America, Judy Jackson, brings a golden light batch of biscuits from the oven during her second year homemaking class.

HOMEMAKING

One subject which helps a high school girl most is homemaking, especially if she plans to have her own home in the near future. The course extends from Homemaking I, the freshman year, into Homemaking II and III, the sophomore and junior years. Another class is Senior Homemaking, which is for girls who haven't had any previous homemaking experience.

During the course they broaden their knowledge of serving, cooking, and home nursing. When finished they're ready to put their knowledge to use.

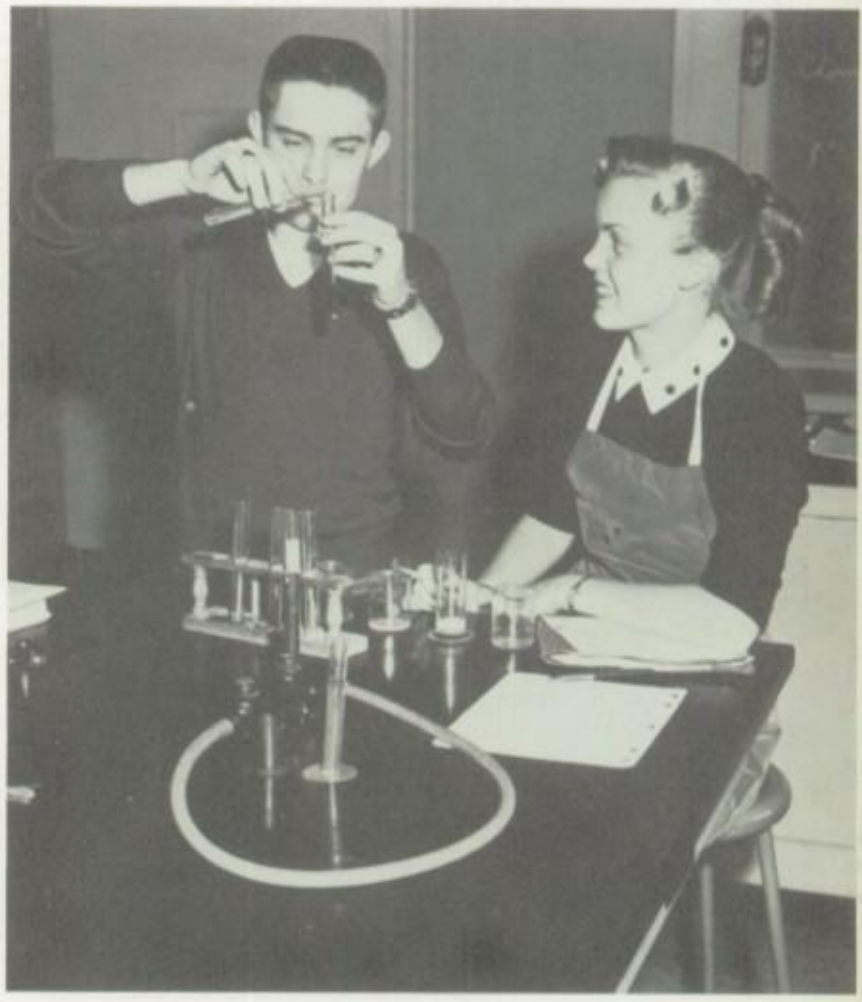
Students Participate in Fascinating Science Program

SCIENCE

Today much emphasis is placed on scientific advancement. The sciences—biology, chemistry, and physics—are fascinating as well as educational. In biology we study animal experimentation, nature, and the use of the microscope. Chemistry, a study of molecular structures and chemical reactions, and physics, a study of the mechanics of nature, stimulate the inquisitive and inventive mind.

These instructive courses which aid students in preparing for science careers and other vocations, also enable them to better understand today's ever changing world.



Janet Maxwell and Gary Ryno watch for that change in color which will tell the story, as they check for unknowns in the chemistry laboratory.

Equations and Logarithms Challenge Inquisitive Minds

John Rettenmayer illustrates a few of the basic formulas concerning tetrahedrons and their inscribed and circumscribed spheres, and the various ways of solving them for Solid Geometry.

MATHEMATICS

Mathematics, from the simplest algebraic equation to the most difficult trigonometrical function, is essential in preparing for many courses of college work or various positions in the business world.

Our math courses, which are the finest, offer a large area of study. Algebra, a study of equations and graphs, leads to Geometry, a study of postulates and theorems. These studies increase the students' power of concentration and reasoning. Trigonometry, the top rung of the ladded, prepares students for important jobs, such as engineering.

In today's world of advancement there is an urgent demand for persons with scientific and mathematical knowledge.

AGRICULTURE

A study of livestock, crops, soil, animal husbandry and farm management constitutes a major part of the agricultural curriculum. By taking this subject a student learns to understand the fundamental problems of farming.

Vocational Agriculture Shop develops skills which are necessary for a boy intending to choose the difficult business of farming for his vocation.

Since forty per cent of the business in the United States is of agricultural nature, it is very probable that Ag boys, upon graduating, will work in this field. Whatever the decision of the student's vocation may be he realizes the importance of Vocational Agriculture.

Vocational Ag students sand off the old finish of their truck preparatory to giving it a new paint job. This truck was restored to working order by the boys.

George Bruketta very industriously works on knurling a hammer handle, a task undertaken in machine shop, while following carefully all the instructions on the blueprint.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Machine Shop—In machine shop knowledge of machine equipment and its care and uses are learned. Construction of such tools and articles as hammers, soldering irons, vices, depth gauges, ash trays, and lamps give valuable experience.

Drafting—Here the future engineer, architect, or contractor receives useful knowledge of the drawing of plans and mathematical problems involved in building. Besides construction problems the care and use of the drawing tools are taught.

Blueprinting is another important phase of drafting where the students study interpretation, reading and the making of blueprints.

Woodworking—Boys taking woodworking agree there is nothing more satisfying than viewing a piece of furniture, carefully sanded and fitted that they have made themselves. Each year these boys design, create, and refinish several pieces of furniture ranging from bookcases and end tables to the more difficult desks and bureaus.

Skillful, Courteous Driving Is Aim of Driver Education

Driver Education

Alarmed by numerous automobile accidents, many feel the answer to this problem is education of the prospective driver, the teenager.

Behind the wheel for the first time, the novice needs instructive supervision and the faultless car provided in driver education.

Besides actually driving, the students study rules and courtesies of the highway and the internal workings of the intricate machine they drive.

Statistics prove that drivers who have taken this course have half as many accidents as those who have not.

Under the direction of Mr. Glenn Harjes, driver education instructor, Jane Stevens takes the reaction test which will help determine her maximum safe driving speed.

Prospective drivers, Carolyn Barnes, Ronald Brons, Gary Agre, and Clela Danner listen attentively as Mr. Glenn Harjes points out a rule for safe driving.

We wonder if Pat Wise, Mary Lou Frazier, Marlene Barberis, Joyce Livers, and Sharon Snider smiled when they began to feel the effect of those exercises.

Physical Education Provides Constructive Recreation

Organized basketball teams, an important part of the physical education program, prove to be skillful ball handlers and point makers in competitive, hard played games.

Ronald Chasteen, Pat Duncan, and Gary Howe look on in admiration as Joe Wilcoxen takes to flight on the trampoline which gives many "bounces and jounces."

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Using the principle, "a sound mind in a sound body," the physical education program is planned to provide body-building exercises and recreation. Activities range from vigorous calisthenics to the more relaxing table tennis.

During winter months teams competed in a succession of sports, as volleyballs, deck tennis rings, and birdies followed one another across the net. The season ended with much skill and practice going towards "sinking a basket."

Since balls know nothing of boundaries, it was not uncommon in the spring to see golf balls and footballs flying over the diamond as hockey putts and baseballs cut across the green.

Music and Art Classes Aid Student Budding Talents

With the satisfied smile of an artist Mary Jane Tallon carefully mixes the perfect hue for the finishing touch on her "masterpiece"—truly an inspiring moment!

ART and CRAFTS

Along with teaching students the fundamentals of the field, our new music and art courses offer an appreciation of their finer points.

Throughout the music department, record albums of all time favorites, classics, and even Negro spirituals can be heard. By studying such recordings the music pupils learn to enjoy the works of the world's greatest musicians. The types, practical applications, history, and theory of music are also taught.

While some of the future artisans are busy with costume designing, tray etching, pastel painting, and studying about artists, others are enjoying themselves working with leather, oil painting, and clay modeling.

Skills for a One-secretary Office Are Learned Here

Barbara Horton answers the telephone for a business conversation with Sandra Waddell which gives them a chance to cope with some simulated everyday business problems.

"a ; s l d k f j g h

BUSINESS EDUCATION

Included in our business education course are three basic factors of business: shorthand, typing, and bookkeeping. Taking dictation and transcribing are the basis of shorthand class, while typing office letters and forms are the fundamental features of typing. Bookkeeping teaches the student how to keep essential records.

After taking one or all of these courses, without further education students can acquire worth-while office jobs. These students get some idea of what to expect upon venturing into the vast business world.

STUDENT LIFE

Gary.

You're a very sweet and wonderful boy, who has deserved and has everything to be hope. I don't know how you feel, but I think this last year has been nothing but wonderful. We've had so many good times its hard to remember them all! I'd say this with a tear in my eye, but I know we'll have even better times on the future. I also know that since we've gone steady I've hurt you a lot of times. I'm really sorry and I hope that you'll forgive me. I think the reason is that I'm just too stubborn for words.

I hope nothing ever comes between us if it does, let's always be friends. Remember what I said, and if you'd like to write, I'll send [illegible] and [illegible] college or after you. (The [illegible] By the way, how did [illegible] name Parker? I [illegible] her me and the [illegible] dad, because I'll never forget you! Love always,

Linda

P.S. By the way, do you take ugly pill every night?

Assignment for Today

Look over material found on pp. 72-95. Note important events of the school year.

Watch for activities in which you took part

"If elected to the office of Student Council President, I promise to . . ." Gary Peterson emphatically presents his convincing campaign platform before the student body.

Appealing for student support, campaign slogans ballyhoo the merits of their candidates. Ron Haughwout observes that the guiding feet lead to the voting booth.

SPRING ELECTIONS

Imaginative posters of every conceivable description appeared everywhere—from the halls to the shower rooms. Tireless campaign managers bustled about concocting ingenious slogans to insure victory for their candidates. Between-period corridor-talk revolved around the event. Canton Senior High again prepared for the annual Student Council elections.

Contenders for the coveted offices were sifted out in the primary. It was to be a battle between Glenn Richard and Gary Peterson for president; Pat Rusnak and Bob Boughan were to confront each other for vice-president; Peggy Van Middlesworth and Mary Jane Tallon were to be opponents for secretary; and Kathy Svob and Bev Pilger were to spar for the sought-after post of treasurer.

To the victors goes hard work! Student Council President Gary Peterson, Vice-President Bob Boughan, Treasurer Kathy Svob, and Secretary Peg Van Middlesworth found demanding responsibilities their reward.

Weighing the qualifications of candidates for Student Council offices, Curtis Hansmeyer, Terry Scalf, Ron Haughawout, and Tom Skinner take final check before proceeding to the polls.

Entire Student Body Involved in Student Government Elections

Then came the climax. As perpetual lines of determined students impatiently waited to cast their ballots, the weary registers doggedly remained at their posts, checking the eligibility of each persistent voter. The voting booths were kept incessantly occupied. Tension gripped all until the final count was released: Gary, Bob, Peggy, and Kathy were to be our new officers for the coming year. Now they must prepare to execute their platforms by providing fresh assembly programs, fulfilling promises, and carrying on the spirited traditions of the Student Council.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM

Soft lights, dreamy music, and a seaside setting highlighted the Prom. From the appearance of Mary Anne Lutz and Gary Peterson on the stage opening the Grand March, to the crack of dawn when sleepy couples reluctantly said good-by the evening was delightful.

As Bucky Turl announced them, enchanted couples drifted across the stage to the strains of "Ebb Tide," pausing briefly before a giant sea shell embellished with sequined net and seaweed.

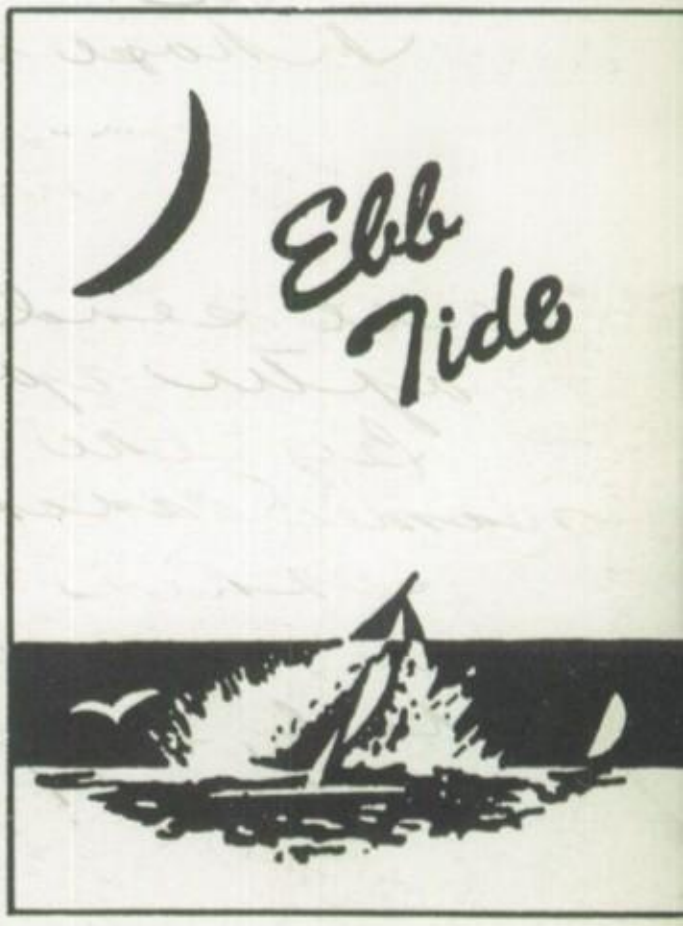
Entering the ballroom, prom-goers found themselves surrounded by heights of gently swaying aquamarine streamers, hinting at soft sea breezes.

Midnight came and with it the long-awaited banquet. Savory fried chicken, fluffy mashed potatoes, fresh green beans, and a crisp green salad were served.

Entertainment followed, accented by the Varju Brothers. This comic harmonica team held their audience spellbound with amazing sound effects.

Couples then enjoyed a breakfast of orange juice, sweet rolls, and chilled fruit.

Crepe-paper Ocean Sets Romantic Mood for Prom Ebb-Tide Scene



Gliding smoothly under the beam of a towering lighthouse, the Prom-goers with luxurious formals and handsome dinner jackets enjoy themselves thoroughly in glamorous settings.

Working diligently together, each doing his part to assure a bigger and better Prom, are Berwyn Strantz, Ronnie Shaw, Jeanette James, and Janice Flambers.

The "come-hither" aroma of a five o'clock breakfast entices Dearl Rose, Cleonia Rohrer, Allan Haynes, and Rex Fuller to refresh their sagging energies.

After an evening of dancing, a coke or T.V. break was refreshing. Anthony Marinich, Cleonia Rohrer, and Mary Leta Bybee rest their feet for a few minutes.

With a trace of nostalgia as they watch the dancers, Mr. Wayne Fisher, Mrs. John Ronketto and Mr. Ronketto drift back in memory to their own Prom days.

Miss Mary Danner maintains the student permanent records—records that can make or break a graduate. Years after a student leaves, his prospective employer may obtain scholastic and character information.

Encouraging students to support their team and increase their school spirit are cheerleaders Bonnie Murphy, Sharon Kaler, Janice Flambers, Janice Howarter, and Susan Moorehouse.

Variety of Extracurricular Activities

A wide choice of intra-school activities helps to enrich a routine, but by no means dull, class schedule.

Each day is marked by varied "little things"—couples strolling dreamily down the corridors hand in hand, groups gathering intermittently to exchange views on the highlights of last night's game, wild-eyed shirkers recovering suddenly from a mental blackout to remember they had forgotten to do their assignments, club members bustling around in search of committees to carry out last-minute details of tonight's dance, frantic photographers rushing around in all directions in pursuit of an evasive picture for the yearbook—the atmosphere fairly tingles with exciting keenness.

The variety alone lends itself to lift our school day above the threat of day to day monotony.

Captivating their audience with their rendition of "rock an' roll" at its finest are Pat Hamilton, John Rettenmeyer, John Hogan, and Doug Denham.

Coach Tom Juravich praises the hard working football team and stresses the importance of student support in the final outcome of the game.

Ticket sellers Ray Coats, math teacher, and Harry Stone, Economics teacher, use their specialized knowledge in making change at one of the varsity football games.

Ag students Kyle Brewer and Gurney Masters are only two of many boys learning the art of cooking while swapping places with homemaking girls.

Coaches Chuck Crosby and Leroy Macklin exchange views at a pep meeting concerning the probable outcome of the game. Cheerleaders Bonnie Murphy and Sharon Kaler look on.

With a firm educational foundation and high hopes for the future, Tom Murphy receives his diploma and congratulations from School Board President, Dr. Willison Taylor.

GRADUATION

After twelve long years of diligent study, the eagerly-anticipated day finally arrived. On May 28, 1957, 166 relieved students received their reward. Following the pompous march by the dignified graduating class, Dr. Sharvy G. Umbeck, President of Knox College, addressed the attentive students, after which Dr. W. I. Taylor, President of the School Board, presented the diplomas and congratulations. Alida Snyder was named Valedictorian and Anne Schwerer, Salutatorian. Alida won the Van B. Eyerly Scholarship, and Betty Bliesener, the Orendorff Scholarship.

Graduating Seniors Dick Wulf and Dick Tanquary savor the ebbing moments of their last high school social event with underclassmen dates Diane Eshelman and Janet Hollandsworth.

SENIOR FAREWELL DANCE

Strains of "Good Night, Sweetheart," bring to Senior minds that this is not only the end of a perfect evening, but also the conclusion of their high school careers.

Seniors Honored Guests of Underclassmen at Senior Farewell

With anticipation for the future and natural reluctance at leaving their high school days behind, Seniors entered the gymnasium as honored guests at the annual Senior Farewell Dance.

To compensate for their tardiness and to satisfy the eager dancers, The Fidgety-Five Plus One played many lively numbers. At brief intervals breathless couples slipped to a nearby table for some light refreshments and a moment of relaxation.

As farewells were bidden, only the Seniors were plagued by the thought of "my last dance as a student of C. S. H. S."

Climaxing the Homecoming assembly, Judy Hill announces the results of the royalty elections as King Gary Peterson is congratulated by Princesses Janice Howarter and Barbara Smith.

Students dance to the melodious strains of "September Song" at Homecoming, one of the big dances of the social season.

HOMECOMING

Round and round the blazing, snapping bonfire careened the circle of pajama-clad funsters, echoing the spirited chants of the zesty cheerleaders. The 1957 Homecoming celebration was under way!

As the partial Cantonians whooped their delight, the Pekin Chink was burned in effigy. The giddy throng then uncurled in a winding snake down Main Street preceded by the wailing siren of the escorting police car.

On the Square the writhing snake disintegrated into a pressing mob around the bandstand, cheering presided over by our enthusiastic cheerleaders. Again the doom of Pekin's Chinks was vigorously foretold.

Rubber-faced Jim Tucker, comical master-of-ceremonies of the "Ed Schmallen Variety Show," grimaces characteristically at the annual Homecoming assembly.

F. F. A. boys use a series of pictographs to illustrate the much-yelled cheer, "Got the Coach," on their Homecoming parade entry.

Returning for a delightful evening of dancing to the music of Bill Hardesty, many Homecoming alumni renew acquaintances with old school chums.

Original Floats with Catchy

With the sound of the bell Homecoming day, we rushed to the auditorium eagerly anticipating our assembly and the announcement of the royal court!

Viewing the "Ed Smallen's Variety of Variety T.V. Show," we laughed till exhausted from the hilarious antics of Jim Tucker, emcee, and his featured guests, "The Searchers." The finale of the program came (never forget those last minutes squirming in our seats while Judy fumbled with the official papers) when Judy Hill announced our King and Queen, Gary Peterson and Kathy Svob, and their attendants, Ethan Blackaby and Janice Howarter.

Teeing off to capture second prize for originality are Biology Club members, caddy Mary Jo Elias, "pro" golfer Sue Jean Smith, and Judy Brons.

Spanish Club member Gary Beadles cracks the whip on his coolie slaves denoting Canton's hopes against the rival Chinks in the football game to follow.

"Our Team's on the Beam" proclaims a flaming paper sun on the G. A. A. float which won the prize as the second most beautiful.

Cantonian Staff's Mary Anne Lutz and Pat Rusnak clobber Jim Tucker in dramatizing the future of the rival "Chinks," as photographer Ron Haughawout snaps the picture as evidence against the "Celestial City."

Slogans Vie for Coveted Prizes in Colorful Homecoming Parade

The French Club cops first place as the most beautiful float with their "We Can-can Beat Pekin." The scene depicted is a French sidewalk cafe.

Jim Fidler, Larry Stanfel, and Larry Konhorst hold back the battering ram, anxious to send Pekin's Chinks over the fence, on the Pep Club's entry.

At 4:30 a colorful array of decorated cars, floats, and a coolie-drawn cart rolled toward town over spectator-lined streets for a mile and a half. Floats ending with first place prize were the French Club's most beautiful and the Spanish Club's most original.

Although the game ended in defeat to Pekin, our spirits never dampened. We left the field with thoughts only of an enchanting evening of dancing.

Round and round we lightly whirled in our "September Song" to the soft tones of Bill Hardesty's Orchestra.

"Hoorah for Canton! Someone in the crowd's yelling hoorah for Canton!" Cheerleaders Bonnie Murphy, Sharon Kaler, Sue Moorehouse, and Janice Flambers bellow enthusiastically along the parade route.

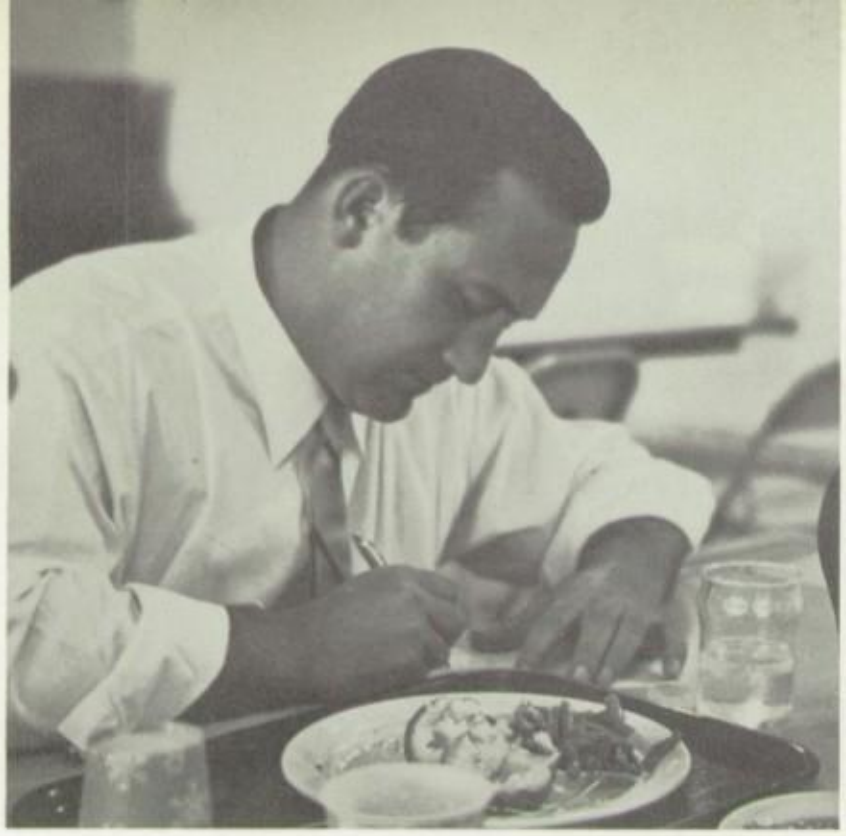
New School Spirit Erupts,

Mr. William Flanagan of C & W explains the mercurial rise and fall of prices to these "Home Economics" Agriculture students: Ronald Long, Robert Canevit, Morey Denney, and Gary Steck.

What is school spirit? Is it attending every basketball and football game, paying class dues, voting in school elections, and faithfully going to the Class Play, Prom, and Hop? Is it a warm glow that one gets when he sings the Canton Fight Song and loudly cheers his team on to victory? Your answer cannot be based upon these aspects alone.

Cantonian Staff members, Mary Anne Lutz, Sandra Waddell, Pat Betz, and Phil Randolph, brace themselves for the bumps enroute to the N. S. P. A. summer conferences in Chicago.



"He's making a list and checking it twice." Coach Leroy Macklin takes a break during dinner to plan the line-up for the evening's game.

Behind the aprons, Mr. William Metzger, Mr. Harold Johnson, and Mr. Charles Walker assist in the kitchen at the Faculty Fish Fry. Drano was served with the meal.

Charging Extracurricular Events with Fresh, Tangy Excitement

Lloyd Henderson tries hard to think of something clever to say that fits in with the conversation being carried on by Louise Hutchinson and Roy Whetstine.

Extracurricular activities depend on school spirit for success. Participation in these worth-while organizations develops the student's personality by associating him with others who have similar interests and by giving him an insight into the social aspects of school life.

Arriving for an exciting evening of dancing and merrymaking, John Henseler and George Fisher aid dates Pat Rusnak and Sue Moorhouse with wearing apparel.

Various topics are discussed by enthused couples participating in one of the most pleasant festivities of the school year. The Hop is traditionally held on Thanksgiving Eve.

Shimmering Strains of Stardust

Tinted lights, sweet music, and an unforgettable atmosphere—these were symbolic of the Senior-Junior Hop held on Thanksgiving Eve. With the Juniors as their guests, the Seniors went "all out" to give them a night they would long treasure.

For a change of surroundings, the Hop, one of the most colorful and pompous events of the year, was held in our beautiful foyer. Mobile stars and blue lights, simulating the night sky, depicted the theme, "Stardust."

Rich Ring's orchestra provided the finishing touch in fomenting the musical setting necessary to develop a lovely evening. Dainty party cookies and tangy punch, served by Sophomore girls, were enjoyed by couples throughout the evening.

Kibitzers watch impatiently as Kathy Svob and Jeff Swan challenge Pat Hamilton and Bob Jennings in a friendly game of Pitch between dances.

SENIOR-JUNIOR HOP

Dancing to captivating music, couples spend three romantic hours at the Senior-Junior Hop. The entire crowd remained till the very last strains died away.

Resting their sagging arches, Mike Duncan and Anne Shepley express their approval of the orchestra while Janet Maxwell appreciates Roger McIntire's latest anecdote.

"I wish I were—and here I am!" Students portrayed the different characters of T.V. characters, soap operas, and past centuries.

With Gay, Elaborate Costumes French Club Initiates

Two Cheyennes and a dance hall girl bring their own deck of cards to Mardi Gras in hope of winning a glamourous prize.

Arriving early, Mardi Gras goers congregate in the halls to converse about the clever costumes and to predict who are going to be chosen winners.

MARDI GRAS

New Orleans isn't the only city which enjoys the carnival of Mardi Gras. Gaily costumed revelers of alumni and guests promenaded in the Grand March, led by French Club President Suzi Davis. This festive event displayed at least one hundred beautiful and varied costumes. Judged most original were Kathy Svob and Pat Hamilton. Kathy was brilliantly dressed as a colorful Christmas tree, and Pat was clad in a calypso outfit. They reigned as King and Queen of Canton's first Mardi Gras and received many gifts from local merchants.

During College Night Bob Kennedy, Warren McGhee, and Peggy Van Middlesworth discuss college entrance qualifications with a representative from the biology department of Illinois State Normal University.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

Under the able direction of Mr. Charles Walker, the annual Senior Play, "The Red House Mystery," was presented on Friday evening, November 15. The lowering of the curtain at 10:30 climaxed more than a month of hard work by the fifteen members of the cast. The play concerned the legend of a ghost that haunted wealthy Mark Ablett's mansion, where several guests were spending a weekend. It was a thriller from beginning to end and was deemed a success by Mr. Walker and many who saw it.

Linda Glasford, Sara Jarnigan, Charlotte Mercer, Kenney Woods, Anne Shepley, Elaine Eager, Jeanne Burns, Pat Steach, and Iona Wheeler display shocked surprise as they learn their host, Terry Wilks, has been killed.

Sweethearts Betty (Linda Glasford) and Bill (Roland Meade) listen skeptically to the discussion concerning a ghost that haunts the Red House where they are guests.

Officer Joe Turner (Jim Helle) looks on passively as Inspector Birch (Larry Stanfel) angrily accuses the bewildered Audrey Stevens (Pat Steach) of withholding important evidence.

Applying the right amount of makeup to Kenny Woods, Mr. Charles Walker, versatile director of the Senior Class Play, executes one of his numerous tasks.

Hard Work by Seniors Results in Thrilling Mystery

Mrs. Norbury (Elaine Eager) quietly listens to Cayley (Lee Kirkham) as he finally declares his devotion and love for her beautiful, young daughter, Angela.

Bill Beverley (Roland Meade) and Betty Calladine (Linda Glasford) exchange fond glances as they and Mrs. John Calladine (Charlotte Mercer) advance toward the tennis courts.

New members are initiated in a brief but impressive ceremony.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The delivery of a small white envelope and a sudden glow on the face of the recipient announce the arrival of an invitation to join the National Honor Society. This privilege goes to the top five per cent of each Junior Class; the following fall the next ten per cent is added. Members are selected for their integrity, responsibility, and leadership as well as their scholastic record, making this one of our most worth-while organizations.

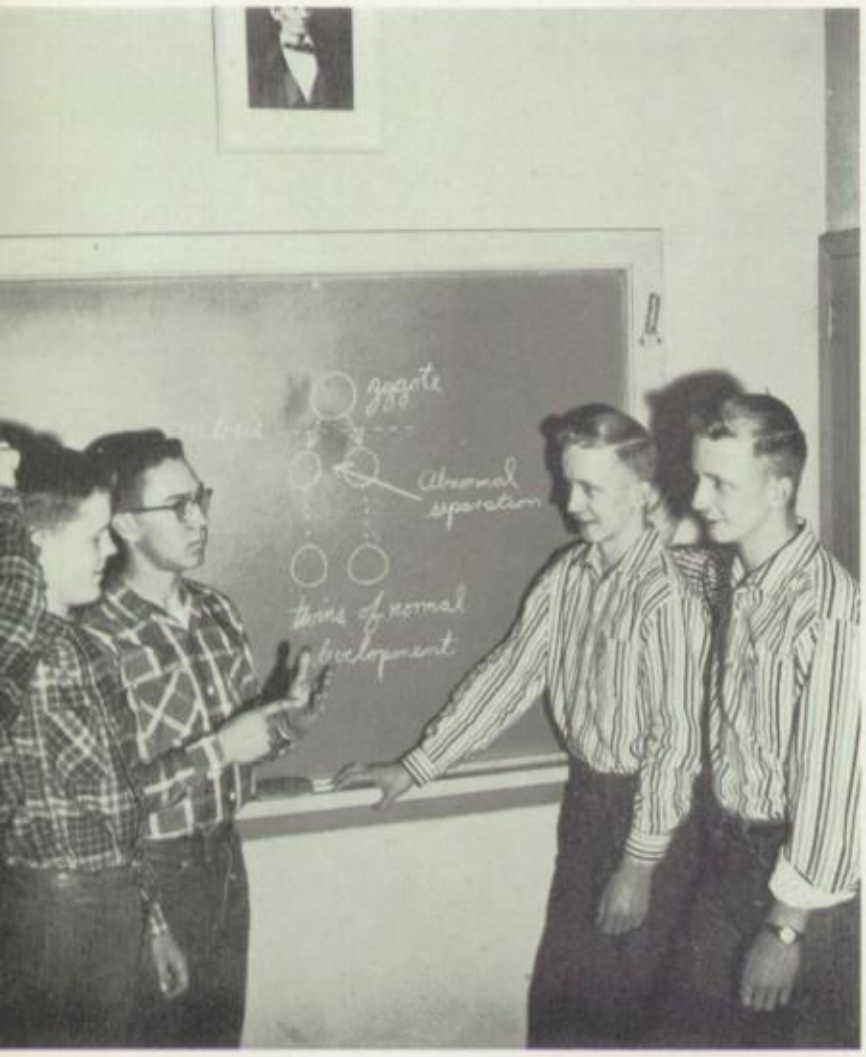
Courageous Iona Wheeler clutches a "ferocious" hamster while less venturesome Biology Club members, Carolyn Barnes, Judy Brons, and Elsie Seward, cautiously keep their distance.

Field Trips and Science

Biology, as explained by its Greek meaning, is the "study of living things." In this fascinating subject the students indulge in everything from dissecting gruesome vertebræ to roaming the countryside looking for poison ivy or beechnut bark.

At the annual science fair, a slight deviation from the usual grind, many colorful and outstanding student projects, revealing endless months' work, were on display.

The Biology Club, besides engaging in various other interesting enterprises, entered a prize winning float in the Homecoming Parade, took an annual field trip, and for their money-raising projects, sponsored a chili supper and a post-game dance.



Charles Rogers seems quite puzzled as Larry Moran explains the mysteries of their being identical twins to Sophomores Donald and Ronald Jackson. (Can you tell who is who?)

Carefully pondering plans for the numerous activities of the Biology Club are Secretary Judy Brons, President Gary Peterson, Treasurer Janet Maxwell, and Vice-President Pat Rusnak.

Club Activities Promote Co-operation Among Classes

Many fields of academics provide innumerable opportunities to fit the varied interests of C. S. H. S. students. A novel and unusual phase was added to the high school program. By interchanging ag and homemaking classes, the boys learned to sew and to cook while the girls learned to change tires as well as repair electrical cords.

In order to develop an ability to get along with all people and to improve their personalities the students attended many extracurricular activities.

CANTONIAN STAFF

As a prelude to writing captions, copy, and comments, the Cantonian Staff went to the 1957 National Scholastic Press Association Conference at Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel. There the members attended classes on the various stages of yearbook production to aid them in publishing an All-American book.

As the year wore on, weary staff members toiled long hours to meet last minute printer's deadlines. Making frequent references to dictionaries, books of synonyms, and Roget's Thesaurus, frustrated word-seekers slaved to write clever and concise copy.

A competent photography department enabled the staff to publish the Cantonian with very little professional assistance.

SPANISH CLUB

Spanish Club members participated in many extracurricular activities throughout the school year. In order to help new members get acquainted and to show them what Spanish Club involves, a hard times initiation party was held in September. With Homecoming approaching, the club worked feverishly on its float, which was awarded first prize as the most original. This success spurred on the enthusiastic members who held dances and fiestas which contributed to their money-raising program.

FRENCH CLUB

It seemed that the French Club was reaching for the moon when it discussed plans for un petit dejeuner, a Homecoming float, candy sales, and Mardi Gras at its first meeting.

"First things first," became the French Club motto; thus a prize-winning Homecoming float was its first goal. A sidewalk cafe scene complete with tourists, Apache dancers, can-can girls and a slogan reading, "Canton Can-can Beat Pekin," was the result of weeks of careful planning and long hours of toiling. First for the "most beautiful" float was its reward.

Early risers of the Spanish Club, as well as the French Club, were served un petit dejeuner. On tables decorated in an autumn theme, une omelette with mushrooms, toast with marmelade, and cocoa were served in true French fashion. Following the breakfast, Mr. Alvin Felts spoke briefly on youth appreciation.

Several candy sales were held periodically by the French Club to supply funds for their highlight of the year, Mardi Gras. Hundreds of gay and original costumes were displayed in the beginning event, the Grand March. Climaxing the Grand March was the crowning of a king and queen to reign over the evening's festivities.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

A vast sense of appreciation for freedom of speech, the right to own land and our great system of democracy was felt by members participating in Sectional Parliamentary Procedure and Public Speaking Contests, and by those attending the F. F. A. National Convention.

At the convention democracy was clearly demonstrated to attending members and distinguished guests by the examples set from the national officers of the Future Farmers of America.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

Future Homemakers of America, under the able supervision of Miss Opal O'Brien and their newly-elected president, Mary Sue Knupple, began the year's activities by attending the Fall Rally and Officer's Training School in East Peoria, where they acquired useful information for the coming year.

Meeting every second and fourth Monday of the month, the group held business meetings, sponsored a colorful Valentine Dance, and successfully planned a Christmas party and gift exchange.

Harmonizing in folk, spiritual and general songs, the three choruses produced many beautiful tones which echoed from the vocal department throughout the year. Remembering Mr. Klingman's saying of quality not quantity, each day the choruses strived hard perfecting their music for concerts and contests.

At Christmas the Mixed and Girls' Choruses, costumed in bright red and green, sang out with joyous spirit their Christmas cheer to the student body. Special groups from the choruses also entertained the community with their Christmas songs—these groups finished the year making forty different public appearances.

BAND

Under the capable baton of Band Director, Mr. Walter Brashear, the Canton Senior High School Band thrilled many crowds at our home football and basketball games this past year. Many hours of drilling went into their fine display of precision maneuvers on the football field.

This was not a chore for these students, however, for their great love of music made all these hours enjoyable.

When the curtain rose on the beginning of the season, the members had an inner glow of self-satisfaction and pride. Their varied repertoire met the individual tastes and unanimous approval of the crowds. The acclamation received was ample proof that the band's efforts were appreciated.

Their colorful uniforms and flashing instruments gave color to the background of the harmonious music. Both of these provided an inspiration to all the activities of the school.

The reed, brass, and percussion sections which make up our band have added impetus to our football and basketball games, providing entertainment as well as spirit.

Splendid presentations of programs at the County Band Festival and Spring Concerts and awards won at District and State Music Contests has earned the Canton Senior High School Band the respect and esteem of the community.

LATIN CLUB

Wishing to add pleasure to their year's work, the Latin Club planned several activities during the school year. Since the early Romans were not the only ones who enjoyed good food, enthusiastic Latin Club members held a wiener roast at Big Creek Park in the fall. At their potluck supper later in the year, Mr. Felts showed some slides of his travels. To raise money for their treasury, the Latin Club sponsored a home-made candy sale during the lunch hours.

ARCHERY CLUB

Last fall Miss Dorothy Hoadley and nineteen students organized this year's Archery Club in order to better their skill with a bow and arrow. Members and officers, President Mary Jo Elias, Vice-President Dennis Zaborac, Secretary Carol Hagaman, and Treasurer Sherry Fuller, held weekly meetings practicing out-of-doors.

During the winter they met and repaired equipment, then this spring outside practice resumed.

Winners of the high point award, a target-shaped emblem, were Mary Jo Elias, Iona Wheeler, Wilma Housh, and Dennis Zaborac.

Wilma Housh, high-point scorer in the archery tournament, demonstrates with a bow and arrow the skill which enabled her to achieve this record.

This year the ever-active Live Y-ers sponsored vocational and religious panel discussions and dances including a Coronation Ball. During their regular Thursday evening meetings, programs were presented on job opportunities, book reviews and beauty tips, making a well-rounded year.

This past summer Jeanne Burns, Kathy Svob, Betty Stutsman, Sandra Miller, and Janet Maxwell were chosen to represent the local Live Y-ers Y-Teens at the State Conferences in Peoria. There the delegates exchanged novel ideas for future projects with other representatives.

Despite ghosts and goblins roamin' the night air, nonsuperstitious Y-Teens nevertheless had a carefree time at the Halloween dance.

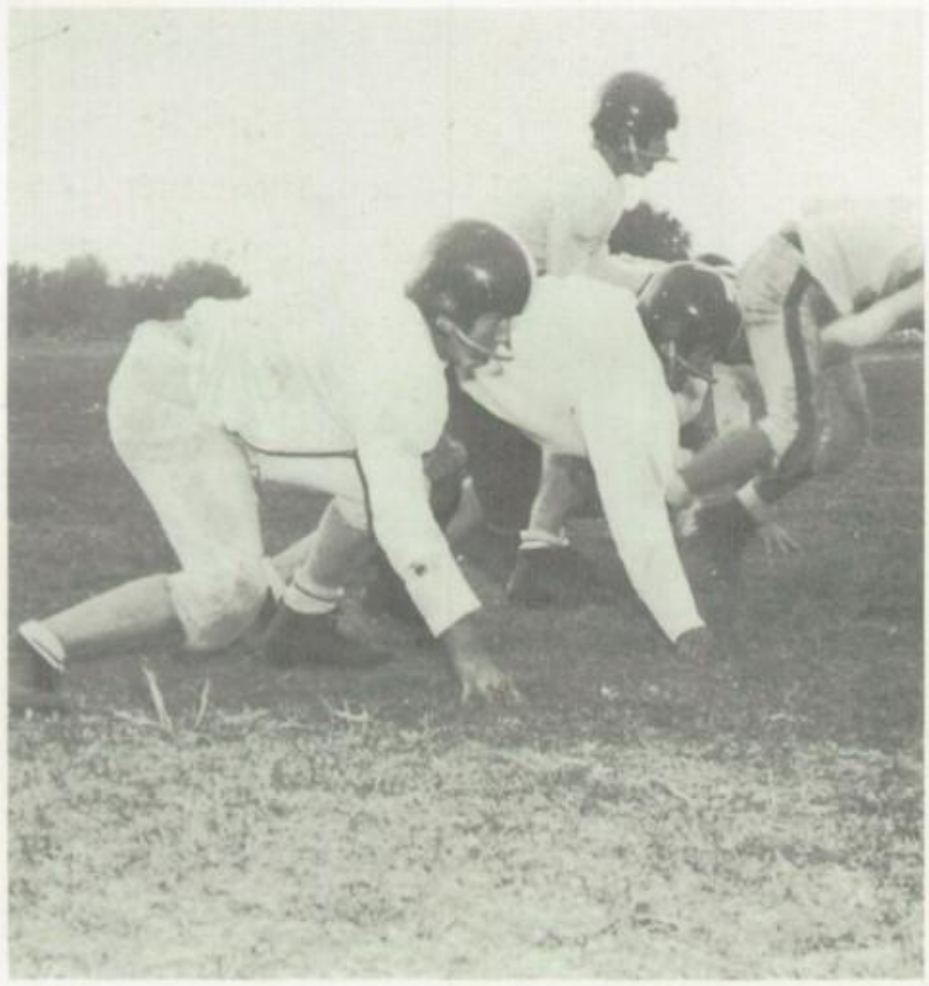
ATHLETICS

Assignment

Look over the records of the teams. Watch for outstanding performances.

Note the vigorous activities of the girls as well as the boys.

Using the old axiom "practice makes perfect," the Canton Little Giants try to eliminate fumbles, a major problem throughout the season, in strenuous practice sessions.



With the assistance of Ralph Wright and Steve Nelson, Dick Flynn, a potential varsity quarterback, attempts to score in one of a series of defensive scrimmages.

FOOTBALL

Canton 14; Kewanee 20—Canton's season opener ended in defeat although we staged a great battle in the last half. Getting off to a shaky start, three fumbles let the Boilermakers score. Blackaby, Meacham, McIntire, Nelson, Jones played an outstanding game.

Canton 13; Spalding 33—Spalding, digging in five plays after the kickoff, scored the first T.D. and conversion of the game. Kennedy made Canton's first six. Although neither club scored in the third quarter, the Irish sacked up two touchdowns in the final period.

Canton 6; Pekin 26—In the Homecoming tussle, even though sparked by the excellent backing of Blackaby and Nelson, the Giants lacked the strong lines and aggressiveness necessary to win.

During an after school practice session, versatile quarterback John Nelson pulls in a semi-wild hike being tossed back by Canton's hard working center Ralph Wright.

On an end sweep the Little Giants dig for pay-dirt against a tough foe, Spalding. A second half rally created a tight-pressured game filled with suspense.

Tough Opposition Provides Thrills on the Gridiron

Canton 0; East Peoria 0—The Canton club, minus several first-string players due to illness, played a terrific ground game. Kennedy, the most outstanding player of both squads, picked up 59 yards in 17 attempts, taking 3.5 yards per carry.

Canton 0; Monmouth 7—Although the Home squad made only seven first downs and failed to complete any of their seven passes, Kennedy, Canton's left halfback, made a tremendous 39-yard run but was downed on Monmouth's 10-yard line.

Canton 13; Woodruff 54—Although the Canton squad played a deliberate defensive game, Woodruff, named one of the better Peoria area teams, showed their skills to grab an easy won victory over the Giants.

Canton 6; Galesburg 40—Hitting pay dirt after a 55-yard run, Bob Kennedy scored the only Canton touchdown. The total Giant yardage against the Silver Streaks was 58 yards.

Canton 7; Farmington 41—Canton's jubilation was short-lived when Farmington ended the fourth period with a 41-7 score. Blackaby, breaking at just the right moment, streaked a 70-yard run for the only Giant touchdown.

Canton 6; Limestone 12—Although John Nelson scored a second period touchdown for the Little Giants, the final score was the identical margin by which Limestone defeated the Canton squad last season.

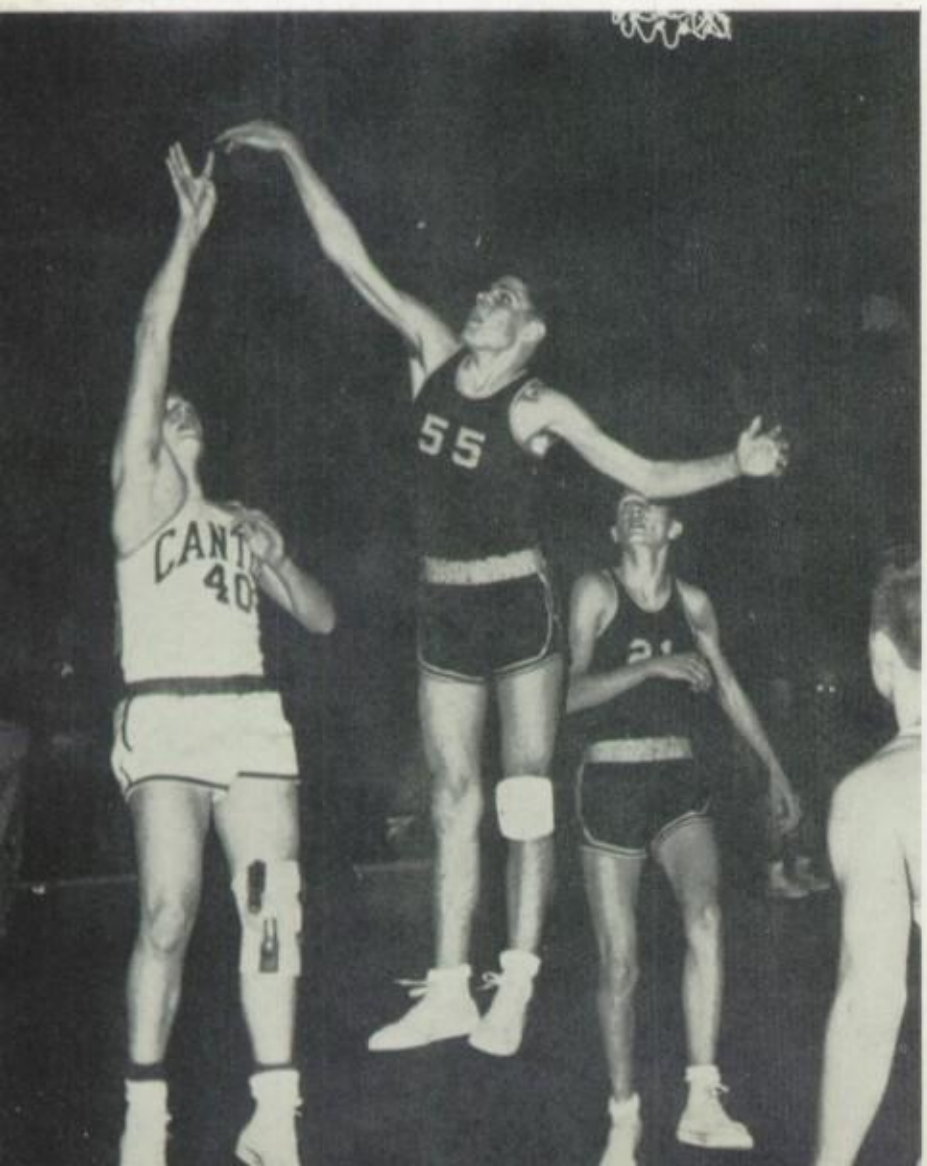
Canton Little Giants Snatches Regional Trophy from



Although being closely guarded by a Cuba defensive man, skillful sophomore guard, Gary Kinzer, makes a bid for two points by attempting a difficult jump shot.

By using a tight man-to-man defense, well executed weave with quick, sharpfeeds to high scorer Dave Downey, and winning ten of their first eleven games, the Little Giants gave Canton basketball fans a terrific preview for the "57-58" season.

Although in his first year as chief navigator, Coach Charles Crosby steered his boys through the right channels to anchor at tenth place in the Associated Press basketball poll.

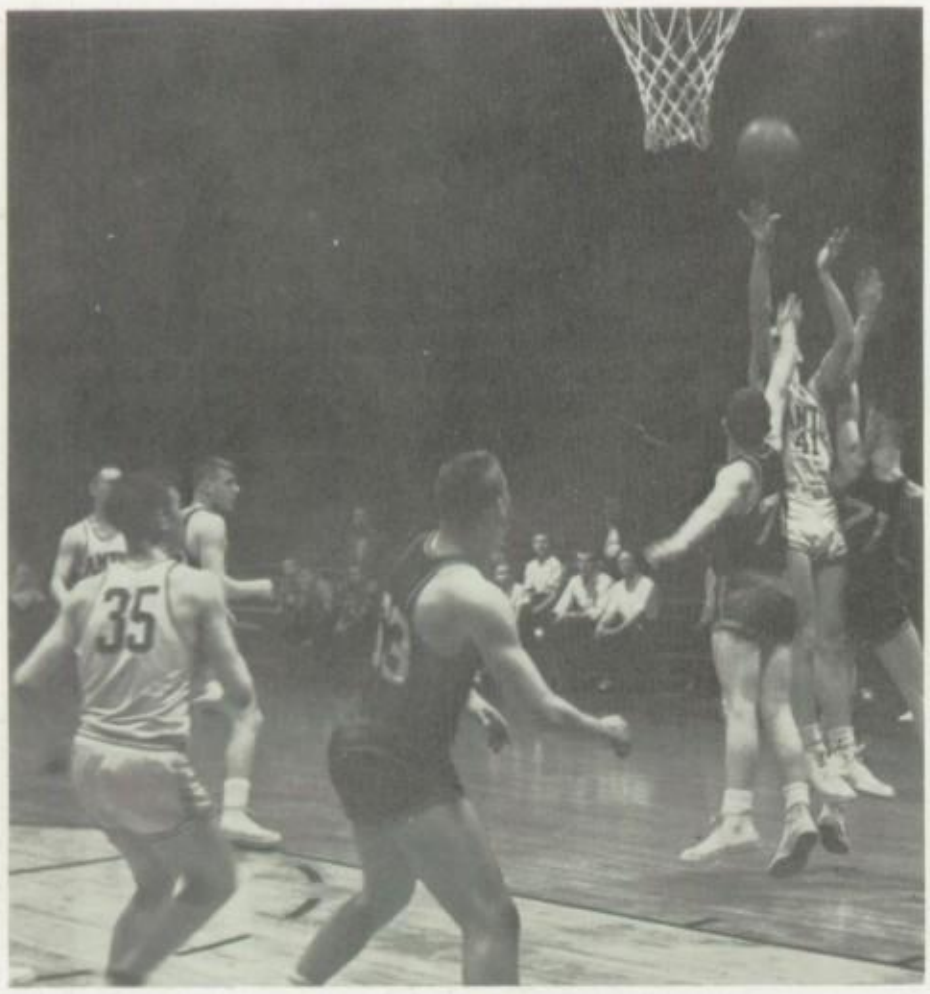
Helping them win positions on the WEEK-TV All Area Team were the 21.4 shooting average of Downey and tricky dribbling of Wright. Blackaby, a pressing driver, and Downey also grabbed first team positions on the Illini Conference Team.

Always contributing to team success were the poise and stability of Swan, the pivot playing of Standard, the alertness and rebounding of Nelson, and the creditable forward services of Marinich.

Hot-shooting Sophomore Basketball Team Combines



Even though sandwiched between two opposing players, Gary Fox comes through with one of his fine jump shots, which the fans have come to expect.

Driving hard under the direction of Coach Tom Juravich, this season's Sophomore basketball squad added victory to victory after the long list already chalked up in the Alice Ingersoll Gymnasium.

The battling five made a terrific show of teamwork as well as bringing attention to individual talents such as the .529 shooting percentage of Ray Hilton.

Although winning twelve games, the team suffered "Friday, the 13th," luck with three losses by only one point, dropping two games in close overtimes, and two losses at the season's end. Fans deem the "58" season the best in years!

Coach Tom Juravich and his first five, Larry Wolfe, Ray Hilton, Gary Kiner, Gary Fox, and Dale Harris, gather round for a quick pep session.

With grunts, groans, and the straining of muscles, Little Giant matmen prepared for the District Wrestling Meet at Pekin, where they were able to capture 43 points and tie for third place with East Peoria. Champions were (170 pounds) Roger Motsinger with fifteen points and (112 pounds) Tony Marinich with fourteen points. With an outstanding display of skill and speed Roger Motsinger scored three early pins in three matches.

Advancing to the Sectional Wrestling Tournament in Champaign, Tony Marinich brought home a third while Bob Jennings and Roger Motsinger placed fourth.

In spite of team scores, individual performances gave much credit to Coach Leroy Macklin and the team.

Larry Maxson, Carl Jacobs, and Ronnie Loos await the rebound as Gene Churchill leaps high to bank in a lay-up shot in an exciting intramural game.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Today, extracurricular intramural sports rank high among the more important phases of a boy's high school life.

During the fall, winter, and spring seasons the intramural spotlight focuses on bowling, trap shooting, and basketball.

For the "57-58" basketball season the Wildcats of the National League, captained by Bill Kuchan, and the Knickerbockers of the American League, with captain Dave Stanfel, took first place in their respective leagues.

Participation Vigorous in All Intramural Sports

The Intramural Championship game resulted in the defeat of the Wildcats with a tight score of 51-50.

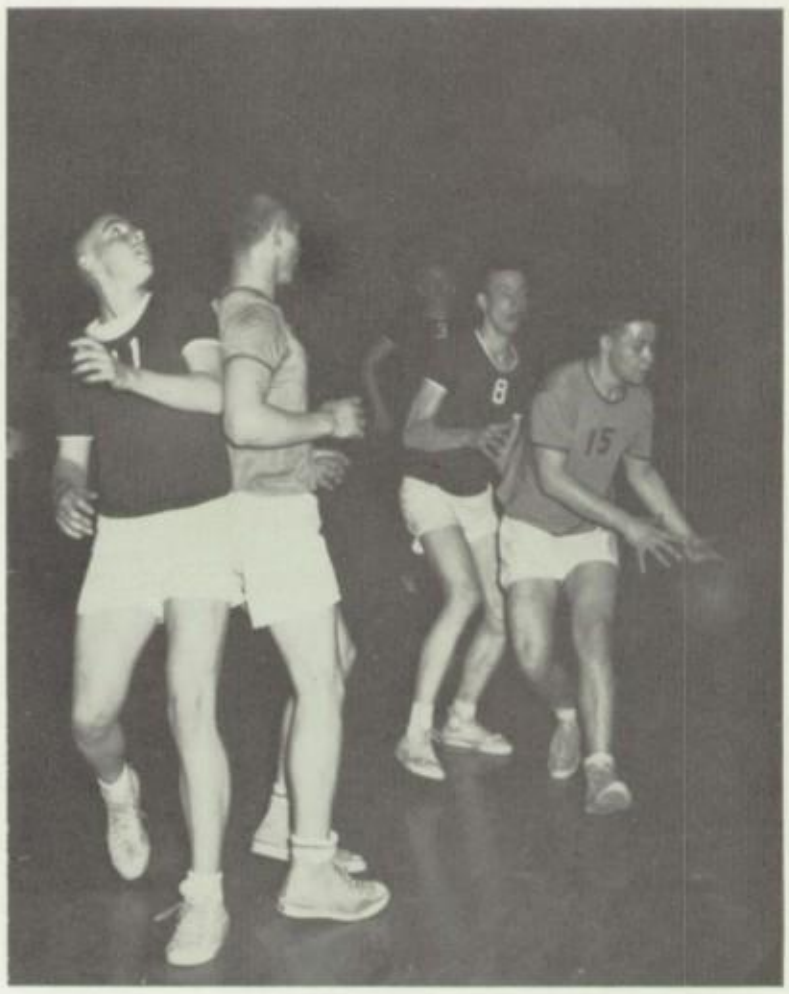
Enjoying this year's successful trap shooting were several faculty members along with enthusiastic students.

Until the unfortunate destruction by fire of the Canton Work's Club, a successful season was recorded there by the bowling champions: Jim Bernard, Dick Flynn, Tommy Bugos, Jim Fidler, and Larry Stanfel, captain.

Regardless of how slight his abilities, any boy can readily participate in these activities, even if he has never heard of intramural sports.

Wildcat teammates, Mike Phillips, Captain Bill Kuchan, Bill Edwards, Don Smith, Ken Woods, and Lee Reffett, display victorious smiles after taking the National League championship.

Showing effects of a strenuous game are American League champion Knickerbockers' Terry Elliot, Larry Noland, Dave Ellsworth, Captain Dave Stanfel, Wally Murphy, and Jim Reid.



Braves' guard Roger Motsinger backs off opponent Mike Williams as he clears the lane for John Rettenmayer to receive a bounce-pass from an unseen teammate.

Yelling Our Teams on to

Throughout the year the auditorium echoed with the enthusiastic yells of the student body during the rousing pep assemblies put on by our energetic cheerleaders, Janice Flambers, Janice Howarter, Bonnie Murphy, Sue Moorhouse, and Sharon Kaler. Striving to arouse a stronger school spirit, skits and many novel cheers were introduced at this time.

Excitedly following the plays of every Varsity game, these invigorating morale builders led Little Giant fans in catchy cheers and the undying "Fight Song" while promoting the spirit of good sportsmanship.

Through continual practice the cheerleaders sought to achieve co-ordination as well as uniformity of their motions.

Vivacious Varsity cheerleaders Sharon Kaler, Janice Howarter, Bonnie Murphy, Sue Moorehouse, and Janice Flambers practice motions of a new cheer for coming football games.

Victory Are Canton's Five Outstanding Cheerleaders

Varsity cheerleaders Sharon Kaler, Janice Howarter, Janice Flambers, Sue Moorhouse, and Bonnie Murphy practice a cheer for one of our more important football games.

CHEERLEADERS

During a pause in one of many exuberant pep meetings, Senior cheerleader Janice Flambers explains a new cheer to the enthusiastic students as Sue Moorhouse listens.

In past years Canton has had outstanding cheerleaders and this year is no exception. Our five cheerleaders could be found on the sidelines of a football field, regardless of the weather, shouting for that much-needed touchdown.

At a basketball game our peppy cheerleaders drew an enthusiastic response from our students. They were also prominent in the Pep Club, and each year they combined their efforts on a Homecoming float.

We can be proud of Canton's five cheerleaders and thank them for adding greatly to school spirit.

G. A. A. Members' Interes

Whether playing strenuous sports such as baseball, volleyball, tennis, soccer, and badminton, or the less active ones, table tennis and archery, the Girls Athletic Association always lives up to its code, which is to promote good sportsmanship among high school girls.

Under the able leadership of Advisor Miss Dorothy Hoadley, President Mary Jo Elias, Vice-President Jean Parker, Secretary Sharon Johns, and Treasurer Sujean Smith, the G. A. A. also adds spice to the social life of school. Several successful dances have been sponsored including a Sock Hop after the Canton-Farmington football game and a lively square dance. Besides these dances the G. A. A. also gave a Welcoming Party for the Sophomores, a Christmas Party and a Slumber Party.

Hard work and fun go hand in hand as the resourceful girls have proved while working in the concession stand on those cold autumn nights. The G. A. A. float, which won second place for the most beautiful float in the Homecoming Parade, was the result of much energy, initiative, imagination and hard work.

When entering into competition with other G. A. A. clubs, our local G. A. A. received high honors in the archery, bowling, and basket shooting tournaments.

Many members have earned several colorful medals and letters by their superior skill and good sportsmanship.

Although Canton High School fans had seen better baseball years for the Little Giants at Athletic Park, Coach Frank Whitman, a former professional baseball player, and his hard-hitting nine ended their regular season of play with a successful win-loss record.

Highlighting the "57" season was a six hit game against the Central Lions pitched by ace fast ball hurler, Chet Carrara. In the first inning of that same game Ron Gaskill, a one year Canton veteran, slapped a double, stole third, and romped home to score the Giants' only run.

In District Tournament play the Canton squad lost their championship to Farmington by a 4-3 score.

Sparked by the leadership of Coach Fred Radunzel and Assistant Coach Charles Crosby, the Little Giant cindermen had a reasonably good season. Although this was a "building" year, the team showed skill and endurance but not enough to consistently beat their talented competition.

For the most part Bill Schrodt, Dave Skinner, and Charles Shaw turned in many wins in the runnning department while Jeff Swan did a splendid job in pole-vaulting. Even though the team lacked experience the boys showed valor and sportsmanship in every one of their track meets. Both coaches are confident the boys have the ability to develop into a winning team.

Sprinters Larry Moran and Jim Watts each strain to take the lead during a practice race, while Warren McGhee trains for a record-breaking discus shot.

Hi Gang —
I think you actually run this school. Keep up your fine record.
Remember when we used to fish with Burgie.
Not much luck.
Love, Buddy.

Pete—
Boy just what can you say. There is not enough to say & I can't even start to say it. Let's just say we have been friends for a long time & have been through a lot together. Remember the time we doubled with Charlie & Sandy Allen & that fat girl we said looked like Shamu? Remember the time we doubled with Bill & Sandy Ballard & got so drunk we couldn't even walk? Hope you have a great Christmas with your family & that 1972 will be a good year for you & Sandy. Remember we're always here if you need us. Love & good luck always.

Your friend,
keep it clean.
